Part C – Comprehension Passage (rewritten, same length)

Saudi Arabia is a country with an atmosphere of devotion, culture, and loyalty to tradition. Its society offers comfort and shelter to millions of pilgrims who visit the Two Holy Mosques each year. Expanded facilities have welcomed visitors, ensuring they are cared for. The people of the Kingdom are regarded as its greatest asset, with ambition and talent that can be cultivated and nurtured through education and healthcare. Cultural initiatives such as museums, galleries, and libraries create opportunities for learning and entertainment. Housing projects promise modern furniture and safe communities, while schools develop the potential of graduates to meet job market needs. The economy shows promise, with investors bringing megabucks into a diversified environment. The Kingdom's location, linking three continents, makes it a global trading hub. Streamlined services and privatization of state-owned firms will attract partners. Saudi Arabia aims to be a lodge for talent, creativity, and enterprise, offering opportunities that may cost "an arm and a leg" but yield great rewards.

There is a climate crisis. We need to stop using oil and gas. The European Space Agency (ESA) is testing giant solar farms in space. It wants to send energy wirelessly from space into people's homes. One solar-farm satellite could make the same amount of power as a power station. The ESA wants many of these farms in space.

The ESA project is called Solaris. The ESA wants "a clean and secure energy future". This means becoming more carbon-neutral. The ESA said we needed to cut the use of fossil fuels. Solar farms could help us to do this. One farm is around 1.7 km long. This is bigger than the International Space Station, which is 110 m long.
